

TO OPEN STUDIO.

The people of Sidney and district will no doubt be pleased to learn of the decision of the Columbia School of Music (which has met with great success in Victoria) to open up a studio here. The school commenced last September in Victoria with a class of forty pupils and now has a class of 170. Monthly recitals are held, and each pupil is expected to appear at least once a year. These recitals are open to the public. The Sidney studio will be opened on June 15 at the home of Mrs. A. Critchley, Third street, a lady teacher coming out from Victoria once a week.

For the opening term special rates will be given, for which apply to Mr. Baxter, business representative, care of Mrs. A. Critchley, or 1106 Broad street, Victoria, B. C.

The June recital will be held in Sidney, further particulars of which

History of Mayne Island

By a Resident

Settlers, Past and Present, and Their Occupation.

The first settler came to Mayne Island about 1850 by the name of Chris. Myers, an engineer, having a small cattle ranch on the land above the Pass called the prairies. This same property now belongs to Mr. William Robson. In 1852 a severe winter came and Mr. Myers last heavily in stock and died himself.

Mr. Nicholson, an Australian miner, was the next settler, followed by Mr. Campbell, who lived on Carrent Island, and took up a claim on what is now known as the Bennet home- stead.

Mr. Heck and John Pates arrived a little later. Mr. Pates was the first store keeper on Mayne. Later on Mr. Collison arrived and took over the store and opened the post office. Mr. Heck settled down to farming in the centre of the island, the farm still being under cultivation under the management of his sons.

Mr. Fred Robson, who is one of the largest farmers on the island to day, arrived the same time as Mr. Collison.

The oldest resident on Mayne Island is Mr. Georgeson, of Active Pass lighthouse. He arrived in Victoria in 1856, having the large sum of $2.50 in his pocket. He left for the Fraser river, as it was the time of the gold excitement there. He mined for five years, then left for the Cariboo country, but finding prospects poor he built Half-way House on Beacon Pass, where he lived for a year and a half, eventually selling out and going to Galiano in 1863, where he built the first log cabin and took up the homestead which he still retains, situated on the south end of Active Pass on the Galiano shore. He had for a partner a man called Johnny O'Brien. After living for several years on Galiano he returned to the Fraser River and fished for Mr. Alex. Ewen's cannery for fifteen years. He returned to Active Pass in 1885 to take the position of lighthouse keeper, from which he has only just retired. Most of the lumber used in the building of the lighthouse Mr. Georgeson conveyed in his own sloop.

The first steam fog horn was started on Saturday, Oct. 28, 1893. Before this a bell was used.

In early days the settlers' only mode of getting their mail was by going out and stopping the steamer Enterprise as she went through the Pass. A petition was sent to Ottawa in June, 1891, for improved mail service, and the result was a steamer from New Westminster made a stop at Active Pass once a week.

In 1900 the steamship Iroquois took over the mail service for the islands from the C. P. N. Company, greatly improving the passenger service and operating until 1910, when she met with a fatal disaster, causing the loss of many lives. The run was carried on by a small freighter called the B. C. P. until midsummer when the C. P. R. took over the island run. The C. P. R. purchased the steamers Otter and Queen City for several months, and later the steamer Joan, giving a very fast and satisfactory service, but the revenue from the Gulf Islands proved too small to support such a palatial steamer. The steamer Joan was withdrawn and the Queen City was placed on the run. The Queen City operated for several years, and was destroyed by fire alongside the C. P. R. wharves in 1916. The steamer Otter once more took over the run, but her speed limit was too slow. Early in 1917 the C. P. R. purchased the steamer Island Princess from Seattle, making considerable alterations in her pilot house and cabins, in order to fit her for the island service. This steamer has been operating since the summer of 1917, carrying out a very satisfactory schedule.

Mail Service.

Gradually the island has become more populated. Since the war the population has increased more than at any other time. Several old farms have changed hands and new settlers have come in, and not a few taking advantage of the Soldier Settlement scheme.

The farmer today on Mayne Island, on an average, does well. Generally speaking, he takes a sporting chance with cattle, horses, chickens and pigs. The Japanese at Briggs Landing are doing extensive chicken raising and making it pay.

A very successful enterprise is the Mayne Island Nurseries, owned and operated by Mr. Richard Hall. The gardens are situated on the east coast of Mayne Island, just below the lighthouse. Mr. Hall came to the island in 1908, buying a portion of the Point Comfort property. He has 10,000 feet of glass and specializes in tomatoes. From four acres his output is 40 tons of tomatoes a year. He goes in for cut flowers and cucumbers on a small scale, and he has a most picturesque flower garden joining his residence.

ANOTHER CRUSOE.

In the Family Herald of May 18 there are several interesting stories of men who, like Robinson Crusoe, have been cast on desert islands. These stories you may read for yourselves. Still another true story is that of a bearded man who was found by an English sea captain on an island in the South Atlantic. When spoken to by the captain the man merely shook his head, but at last he was able to say two words distinctly. The first was "English," the second "Liverpool." These two words he kept repeating. All else seemed forgotten by the castaway. He was taken on board the British ship back to England. During the voyage he gradually regained his speech, and although his memory was vague he was sure of one fact relating to his past history. This was that as a boy of fourteen he had run away to sea, and soon after had been wrecked. For long, long years the poor fellow had lived on the island. The story ended happily, when, after careful enquiries on the part of his rescuer, the man was restored to his relatives in England.

AUNT MOLLY'S GRAMOPHONE.

"Benny," said Aunt Molly, suddenly, "it's Saturday. Why this mournful face? What's wrong, old chap?"

"Most things," said Benny.

"Tell me about it,"

"Well," began Benny, "I was away down in arithmetic this week, and I meant to be 'way up.'"

"That's number one," said Aunt Molly.

"I lost three games of marbles in recess."

"Number two."

"I fished all evening and only got one bite, and he got off with the hook just when I thought I'd landed him."

"Number three."

"I took hours doing that essay, and then old Smith said it was decidedly poor work, and there were far too many spelling mistakes, and I don't know what he didn't say. It's no good trying anyway."

"Tough luck, Benny," agree Aunt

Molly. Before she spoke again she held out a dish of chocolate fudge temptingly, and after her nephew had thanked her and helped himself, she had decided what to do and say next.

"It is lots of good trying, Ben," she remarked. "Probably you won't believe it, but it's so all the same. You sit there while we have some music, and maybe you will feel better presently. I got some new records last week."

Ben was specially fond of music and of chocolate fudge, but he was still more fond of Aunt Molly. So he leaned back in the easy chair while she put on the first of the new records. The doors were opened wide to the verandah, and the view across the sunlit sea to distant mountain peaks was one to remember.

The first piece was an orchestral selection, with rousing melody and a wonderful effect of trumpets and horns.

"Do you like it?" asked Aunt Molly when it was over.

"It's great!" answered Benny.

"That is taken from Gounod's great opera, 'Faust.' This is another of his—Gounod's 'Serenade.'"

"It's a treat!" exclaimed Benny at the end. "Of course I have heard it lots of times before, but you never get fed up with a tune like that. Please play some more."

"More fudge first," said Aunt Molly. "No we'll have a song by Caruso, the greatest tenor that ever was."

Benny listened, and because he liked music even better than he liked candy, the chocolate fudge lay patiently on the arm of his chair.

"What do you think of that?" asked Aunt Molly, stopping the machine as the last bars of the song died away.

"Great—simply fine!" said Benny. "Wouldn't I just like to hear him sing and watch him do it!"

There was silence for a few seconds.

"I told you it was worth while trying," said Aunt Molly, presently. "Gounod and Caruso kept on trying anyhow."

"I guess it wasn't hard for them," said Benny.

"Wasn't it, though! You are mistaken there, Ben!"

"Why, with a voice like that I'm jolly sure Caruso didn't have much trouble learning to sing."

"Quite wrong, Benny!" said Aunt Molly. "I have read that for the first two years Caruso's master's did not consider him even a promising pupil!"

"Gee-whizz!" exclaimed Benny, with wide opened eyes. "What about Gounod, though? It must have been easy for him. Anyone who could make up such wonderful music must have made people simply jump to hear him when he'd done it!"

"Wrong again," said Aunt Molly. "Often and often Gounod tried for years before he could get anyone to use his compositions. When he was in England he had a dreadful time. People were often very unkind and rude to him. Sometimes he could get no orchestra to play for him, and was obliged to give several recitals with only piano and harmonium to conduct. I expect he thought sometime that it was no good trying to do things. But he kept on trying all the same, and it is a very good thing for the world that he did."

Benny was munching that piece of fudge thoughtfully.

"Do you think it's worth while for just an ordinary boy to keep on trying to do things, Aunt Molly?"

"I'm quite certain sure it is, Ben. The harder they are to do, the more it is worth while trying. An ordinary boy who tries is not always so very ordinary when he succeeds."

"There's six o'clock striking, and I must run! Goodbye, Aunt Molly! Thanks for the fudge and everything else. I'll be 'way up in arithmetic next week—you see if I'm not!"

And off he flew like the wind down the road. And because Aunt Molly was fond of boys, and specially of her nephew Ben, she smiled to herself as she put Caruso and Gounod's Serenade carefully away with the selections from "Faust."

Salt Spring Island

Past and Present

By "Free Lance"

A Page From a Wanderer's Log.

By the side of a log charred by our camp fire beneath an arbutus tree, which, with its evergreen foliage and naked and twisted limbs, has frequently shielded me from the fierce rays of a merciless July sun, growing on the rocks barren shore of a tiny island in Navy Channel, there lies in all probability to this day a watch in a gold filled case. It is still there it has lain there since the summer of 1912. Meaning to return soon and recover the watch, somehow the years have slipped by and a good resolution has not been carried out. Good resolutions not carried out are, according to one of the pioneer judges who once lived in the city of Victoria, "stepping stones to hell."

A Surprise.

Whilst leisurely paddling my canoe one summer day on Long Harbor, which is one of the several beautiful harbors of which Salt Spring Island can boast, my attention was attracted by the sound of "The Last Chord," being correctly rendered on some musical instrument, invisible but not far distant. Having an ear for music, I at once directed my canoe towards the spot from where the music appeared to be coming. Stepping ashore and making my canoe fast to a nearby log, I began to investigate. My search led me to the door of a small cabin in the wood, where, greatly to my surprise, I found my old acquaintance, Mr. H—— seated on the floor of the cabin playing on his piano. Mr. H——, it appears, in order to get his piano inside the cabin had been obliged to cut off its legs and make other alterations, which necessitated his taking a seat on the floor of the cabin whenever he wished to play.

The Clayoquot.

In the spring of 1895 the passenger and freight boat plying between Victoria and the Gulf Islands was the Clayoquot. I will not venture to say what length of time it took to traverse 6,100 feet, or one nautical mile. One beautiful morning in spring, after having landed Mr. F. S—— and Mr. L. G. T—— on Ganges wharf she calmly settled down in the sea. On finally leaving the wharf at Ganges she took another rest of a similar nature and was finally run ashore on a point about eight miles from the head of the bay, where she remained several days and those whose business necessitated their traveling, were compelled to fall back on the Indian canoe as a mode of travel. Who wouldn't live on Salt Spring amid such luxuries and comfort afforded at that time?

Fire Water.

Some thirty odd years ago the first wharf to occupy the site of the present wharf at Beaver Point was built. The crew of the pile driver, having discovered that the wife of a farmer living nearby always kept a bottle of gin in the cupboard of her kitchen for medicinal purposes, thought that they had severe rheumatic pains, and that the bottle of gin in the cupboard would be just the right cure for it. So while the good lady was busy feeding her ducks, one of the crew of the pile driver (perhaps the one who felt he had the most rheumatism) managed to secure the bottle (and when the lady got there the cupboard was bare). Apparently the whole of the pile driver crew suffered from rheumatism that day for every man of them took a pull at the bottle, which was soon emptied, much to the lady's wrath and indignation.

ing and we hope to see a cookery book edited by them containing all of the recipes submitted. Mr. Hire was the blue ribbon winner in this contest, Mr. F. W. Tanner securing second honor. In the "Age" Contest, Mr. H. E. Tanner won the gentleman's prize, while the ladies' first was presented to Mrs. R. W. Sluggett. After enjoying a short musical programme a delicious buffet supper was served. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hire, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sluggett, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sluggett, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Sluggett, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sluggett, Mr. F. W. Tanner and Mr. and Mrs. Tarsell. At the close of the evening an autograph album containing appropriate verses, and the signature of each of the guests, was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hire as a little memento of the occasion, and a reminder of the friends they are leaving behind in Saanich.

Miss Gladys Guy spent the holidays in the city as the guest of her friend, Miss Elsie French.

Messrs. McKenzie and Allen, of Brentwood, had an unpleasant experience on Saturday evening. Mr. McKenzie was just tying up his boat at the B. C. E. Ry. wharf when he had the misfortune to slip and fall into the water. The lurch of the boat coming so unexpectedly took Mr. Allen unaware, and he was also precipitated into the icy depths of Brentwood Bay. Mr. Allen clung to the boat which turned over two or three times before he could steady it, carrying Mr. Allen down each time. Being unable to swim, his condition was rather perilous for a time, but he at last succeeded in getting out, none the worse, except for the soggy state of his clothing. Mr. McKenzie, who can swim, reached shore in safety.

Mr. R. C. Lang, of Equilub, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lang, and Miss Lancaster, were visitors at the home of the former's brother, Mr. J. L. Lang, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Thomas Parsell, of Vancouver, paid a visit to the home of his brother, Mr. R. J. Parsell, Brentwood Road, on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Carrier on Sunday afternoon.

West Saanich Correspondence

Owing to the Mail Service Between Sidney and Victoria This News Was Received Too Late For Last Week's Issue

(Review Correspondent.)

WEST SAANICH, May 24. — A few of the young people planned a jolly surprise party in honor of Mr. W. O. Wallace. This event took place at his home at Brentwood on Thursday evening, and the guests were given a hearty welcome. Music and dancing were the pastimes during the early part of the evening, and then by way of variety Mr. D. Prescott and Mr. Wallace introduced some sleight of hand tricks which delighted and mystified the guests until the time came for refreshments. A dainty repast was provided and served by the ladies. The following guests were present: the Misses Freeland, Guy, Anderson, Lindsay and Jeanne, and Messrs. Sanders, Strup, Freeland, Jeanne and Prescott.

Miss Lilla Pfizer, of Victoria, and her cousin, Mr. Ed. Hawkins, of Surf Inlet, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sluggett over the week end.

We are sorry to learn that Prof. L. Stevenson, who has been stationed at the Experimental Farm for the past six years, is about to leave our district. During his stay here he has been host to hundreds of people who have combined business with pleasure by joining some organization or family party on a picnic to the grounds, which are under Mr. Stevenson's supervision. At all times he has proven himself to be exceptionally well fitted for his work, and not only has he patiently and kindly given full and free information on the various branches of agricultural work carried on at Bajan Bay, but he has also endeavored to make the pleasure grounds attractive and comfortable, and there is no more popular picnic grounds in Saanich at the present time. These are only a few of the many good works with which he has been identified as his name appeared on the speakers' list at nearly all the convention held during the last few years.

West Saanich John In, wishing week's holiday with her friend, Miss Proctor, arrived every week in the new duster, which he will shortly assume.

Dr. L. A. Hall, accompanied by his wife, visited Mr. and Mrs. Cameron at the West Saanich Hotel, Tuesday, June 1, and Mr. and Mrs. Tarsell, of New Westminster, motored out to the hotel and made a pleasant visit.

and later visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Parsell. Mr. Cameron and Dr. Hall each made a beautiful sketch of the view from Brentwood Beach, and Rev. Mr. Ireland was so pleased with the scenery hereabout that he returned on Monday to arrange for a camping place which he and his wife will occupy during the month of July.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Milne were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sluggett on Monday evening. Mrs. W. Ludlow, Mrs. Clark and children spent Tuesday with relatives in Victoria and witnessed the various sports arranged for the holiday.

An accident occurred on Thursday afternoon at the corner of the West Saanich and Keating Cross Roads when a large car coming along the West Road and driven by Mr. Knutson, of Victoria, collided with a Ford car coming toward Brentwood along the crossroad. The Ford car was carried a distance of twenty-one feet before the machines could be brought to a stop. Mrs. W. H. Milne, one of the occupants of the Ford car, was thrown violently into the front seat of the car and rendered unconscious. Nearby residents quickly gathered to proffer assistance, and she was taken to the home of Mr. J. W. Sluggett. Dr. Whitehouse was quickly on hand and after a hasty examination found that no bones were broken, although the patient was suffering severely from bruising and shock. A cut on the side of the neck required a couple of stitches, but after resting for a few hours Mrs. Milne was able to resume her journey to the Brentwood hotel. Mr. Milne received some minor injuries, and the driver of the Ford received a nasty cut on the hand. Mr. and Mrs. Milne are from Ottawa and are spending their honeymoon at the Brentwood Hotel.

Miss Helen Johnston returned home on Tuesday after spending a few days in Victoria with her friend, Miss Proctor.

A number of the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rear, held a surprise party at their home on the West Saanich Hotel, Tuesday, June 1, and two amusing contests were arranged. In a test for hand strength, Mr. and Mrs. Rear were victorious, and a delightful party.

Tod Inlet News Items

This Also Was Received Too Late For Last Week's Issue of The Review

(Review Correspondent.)

TOD INLET, May 25. — During the winter we received many assurances that the road leading to Tod Inlet would be put in proper shape this season, but our hopes received a severe shock when we noted the usual load of gravel being sprinkled along in the many ruts. It will probably take a week or more for the heavy trucks to shake it all out of place again, and thus the good work goes on.

Among the guests registered at the Brentwood Hotel during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Paterson, of Brandon, Man., and their three daughters; Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Law, of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins and Miss Cook, of Vancouver; Miss Margaret Calhoun, of Seattle; Mrs. Ingham and daughter, of Nanaimo, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Milne, of Ottawa.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer B. Tubman, whose marriage took place at Victoria on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Tubman spent several years here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Tubman, and was a former pupil of the West Saanich school.

Miss Edith Barlow spent the holidays in Victoria as the guest of her aunt, Miss Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Woodward and children spent the holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Woodward. Mr. and Mrs. Knappenberger and family spent the holiday in Victoria. Mr. G. L. Harrison of Victoria, accompanied by a party of friends, picnicked at Tod Inlet on Monday, May 23.

A number of pupils and teachers from the Normal school of Victoria, spent Saturday at Brentwood. They visited the Butchart Garden, and a number of them were conducted through the plant of the B. C. E. Ry., while others spent on boat or swim.

A large party of ministers, who were attending the Methodist Convention, held in Victoria, were visiting the Butchart Gardens on Saturday. They were met by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rear, who kindly conducted them through the garden, and then to the house, where they were served such a delightful lunch.

Two amusing contests were arranged. In a test for hand strength, Mr. and Mrs. Rear were victorious, and a delightful party.

JUNIOR RED CROSS WORK IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

THE peace-time programme of the Red Cross League of Nations, to which the Canadian Red Cross is signatory, embraces and embodies the very important platform of Red Cross instruction to the children. This branch is known as the Junior Red Cross, and in Canada that is the medium through which the Canadian Red Cross is endeavoring to induce among the children and young people Red Cross instructions and activities of an educational and social value. In this situation, the Red Cross aims to enlist the services of the children and young people on behalf of suffering childhood to minister to the needs of those children less fortunately situated than themselves, and more especially, until the post-war work of the society is completed, to the children of soldiers or those suffering directly as a result of the Great War. In this respect it will furnish the children and young people a useful and healthy outlet for their energies and present to them a definite purpose for which their talents may be employed.

Dealing with the programme of the Junior Red Cross work in the British Columbia Division, it is conceded that the extension of the Junior Red Cross Organization in this province is really one of the most important duties which devolves upon the Society. Upon the children in the schools depends much of the Red Cross support of the future. With the warm approval of the Provincial Department of Education, and the various boards of school trustees, the Society purposes establishing Junior Red Cross branches throughout the Province with separately organized units in all the larger schools. This being done, it is proposed to create a "Junior Red Cross Sick Children's Fund," which will be devoted to providing hospital treatment and care for sick children who are not in a position to receive proper hospital treatment. In the extension of this branch, it is also proposed to provide country vacations for delicate or convalescent city children who are otherwise unable to secure such a holiday. The ultimate purpose of the Junior Fund, however, will be to assist in the establishment of a Children's Hospital or Ward in this Province, so that our sick children may be assured, at all times, of the very best care and attention from nurses and doctors specializing in children's work.

From this Junior Branch of the Red Cross, great results are expected. Children, properly enthused in any good enterprise, are oblivious to obstacles and difficulties. Few persons can refuse the plea of a child. None will refuse the children's plea for children.

Family Gathering on Empire Day

Took Place at the Summer Home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Sluggett; About Forty Members of Family Present

(Review Correspondent.)
WEST SAANICH, May 30.—A most enjoyable picnic was held at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Sluggett on Tuesday when about forty members of the Sluggett families, together with a few intimate friends, gathered there for the holiday. Swimming and boating furnished ample amusement for the young people, while the older members of the party enjoyed being merely spectators. The small folk spent an hour or more in running races, etc., but the special treat of the day for them was when Mr. W. H. Milne arrived with a quantity of ice cream, which proved very delectable.

Out-of-door gatherings at this delightful beach have long been an established custom among local people and there is not one among the old-timers who does not cherish some fond memory of happy days there in company with other kindred spirits. Miss Earle, of Victoria, spent Sunday at the home of her friend, Miss McDonald.

Mr. Geo. Matthews entertained the members of his athletic class on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Matthews served delicious refreshments and the boys had a thoroughly enjoyable time. During the afternoon Mr. Matthews took several pictures of the group of young athletes.

Mr. A. W. Rear gave a brief farewell address to the pupils and teachers at the Sluggett Memorial Sunday school on Sunday afternoon. Speaking briefly on the subject of home influence, he then emphasized the value of forming good habits, and told the boys and girls to always keep the habit of attending Sunday school, and having nothing to interfere with this sure foundation of a strong Christian character. The superintendent, Rev. F. T. Tapscott, in a few well chosen words, thanked Mr. Rear for the valuable services which he had rendered the school, and on behalf of all present expressed regret at his departure. At the close of the service Mr. Rear's class of boys accompanied him to his home, where tea was served, and the boys in a body attended evening service in company with their teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Moura of Gorge Road, Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and little daughter, spent Tuesday at the Brethour hotel, and during the afternoon called at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sluggett.

The dance which was given by Mr. W. J. Baxter on Friday evening at the West Saanich hall, proved quite as enjoyable as any of the previous events and attracted a large crowd. Tables and room were used in profusion and lent an added touch of gaiety to the scene. The candy booth was well patronized and several small prizes were present were always to be found in its immediate vicinity.

Mr. Braden, who is due here to participate here, a piano was well qualified to give entire satisfaction and was able assisted by Mr. De Rouille as drummer. Support was served by Mrs. Barker and Mrs. De Rouille, assisted by the Misses Barker, Minnie and Bolton.

Poultry Calendar For June

Market all your old hens as soon of fine salt, well mixed. This should be as they finish laying, the breeding be fed dry and a supply of sour milk pens should have been broken up by or butter milk kept before the chicks the middle of last month. It is too at all times. If the sour milk or but late to hatch chicks from the heavy feed cannot be obtained, add 1 birds after the middle of May, they will be fine. Do not scrap to the dry wash take too long to mature and do not mixtures. For a few birds the mash commence to lay until after June 1, may be fed in a trough four inches mas. The lighter breeds may be wide and four inches deep, and about hatched from two to three weeks, feed for long, and a fifth along the later and good results obtained. Do not keep the chick from scratch. Dispose of all males not needed for next year's breeding pens, if any are. Provide shade for the hens and keep over, keep them in yards by growing stock. If you have no natural themselves. Remember the male at shade make green from old birds is a detriment to good egg production. Throw a net of water under duetion, he worries the hens and eats the shade, once a day and see how up a portion of the profits. An egg the boys will appreciate it. To be strictly first class must be in. Do not let the hen to lay too hard fertile. Give the young chicks free range from June 1, done at once. Watch for lice, an ounce of pre-skin milk, and do not forget to see if you are with a ton of sure that they have plenty of clean water spray perches, nests and droppings at all times. To raise good layers, broods with equal parts of feed on you must feed a suitable ration and and a little of some commercial plenty of it to the growing chicks; see liquid, do this regularly, say they will thrive well on a mash of 4 twice a week. New Institute Hall is Free of Debt

Building Recently Completed at Fulford Harbor in Splendid Financial Position; Certain Improvements Planned

(Review Correspondent)

FULFORD HARBOR, May 30.—The residents of South Salt Spring Island do not believe in letting the grass grow under their feet, but keep things on the go. The new Institute Hall is now free from debt, and a fair balance is on hand to commence improvements. The building committee, which consists of Messrs. J. Horel, A. Ruckle, M. Gyves, J. Sparrow, F. Reynolds and G. Stewart (see last issue) met recently and drew up plans for a lean-to and enclosed veranda. The veranda will extend across the entrance end of the building and will be eight feet wide. It will contain two cloak rooms and an entrance porch. The lean-to will be 14 ft. wide and will extend the full length of the building and veranda. Major P. J. Campbell is on the island in connection with his duties as road superintendent. Empire Day was duly celebrated here with an interesting programme of sports. A large crowd of residents from all parts of the island gathered together on the Fulford football field and entered into the proceedings with true holiday spirits. Contest of various sorts, races, nail-driving, jumping, potato races and needle races—were thoroughly enjoyed by the school children. The main event of the afternoon was a soccer match between the Ganges and South Salt Spring teams. A very clean game, in which the defence of both teams showed to much better advantage than the forward lines, resulted in a draw with the score 1-1.

The Ganges team played a fairly consistent game throughout, their goal tender, Bud McKeown, and full backs, Bill Evans and Dixon, doing some excellent work in the defence, while Cecil Springfield played well among the forwards. The South Salt Spring boys were staid from their last game on the Saturday preceding, and played the first half with much less than their usual speed. Chapman scored an easy goal for Ganges shortly after the kick off but neither side was able to score again.

Impressions of Salt Spring Island

By the Review Man

As we continued our journey, we left South Salt Spring, taking the main road to Ganges Harbor. Here again we pass farms and fruit ranches and the visitor is impressed with the fertility of the soil, the advanced condition of the vegetation compared with other parts of the province.

The grade is, in parts, fairly steep, and the road takes you through some heavy timber. As you reach the divide, the settlers become more scattered. The condition of this road does not compare with the road in the valley, and is really very rough in parts. One of the difficulties encountered is to secure material. From information we received a rock crusher is to be installed and a large bluff of rock situated near the divide is to be used. This main road requires to be put into condition to carry the auto traffic that is so rapidly developing on the island.

We cannot pass on without remarking on the hospitality and cordiality of the residents. Here are met men and women from all parts of the world—Australia, South Africa, England, Scotland, Ireland and various parts of Europe.

Chicken raising and egg production is very prominent, and the birds appear to be in good condition. As you approach Ganges Harbor the roads nears the water front and through the clearing you get glimpses of the beautiful harbor. The houses, gardens and elevation remind you of some of the fashionable seaside resorts to be found in England.

Extended mention must be made of the harbor. It is difficult to describe the scene that meets the eye. To compare one part of this beautiful island with another would be invidious, but we have no hesitation in stating that the harbor cannot be excelled, if equalled, on the Pacific Coast. The harbor is about six miles long and about one mile wide, dotted with verdant islands. The possibilities of these islands and harbors from the tourist and holiday-seekers' point of view, are immense—all that is needed is to bring them to the knowledge of the great traveling public of the American continent.

Ganges itself is a small settlement with stores, work shops, blacksmith shops, etc., all looking more or less in a very prosperous condition. Here also is situated the creamery where the celebrated Salt Spring Island butter is made, the cream being brought in by the farmers of the district, some coming as far as from the south end of the island.

The butter is shipped out twice each week.

The north end of the island is more settled and a good many of the old settlers have recently sold out. Here also many returned men are to be found pursuing the peaceful avocation of farming, endeavoring to secure from nature some of her secrets and prosperity.

The visitor can find excellent accommodation in the district, but for choice we think it would be difficult to improve upon Harbor House, situated at the head of the harbor, a lovely situation overlooking the sea, surrounded with what was at one time a large farm and orchard.

The district surrounding differs somewhat from the lower end of the island, being unulating, and there does not appear to be so much water, although the largest lake on the island is situated at this end, called St. Mary's. It is about three miles long and one mile wide. Along the east side the road cuts through for a considerable distance a bank of shale, and there are few if any settlers, but on the northwest ranches and farms are to be seen, making a very fine picture with their green pasture, etc.

Near to Ganges is to be found the celebrated seed farm of Fred James, known as "Barnsbury." Since our last visit, nearly one year ago, extensive additions and alterations have been made. These famous seeds are becoming known in many parts and are giving excellent results.

Another local venture which deserves notice is the movement to promote a co-operative jam factory. A start is to be made this year.

While in the district the visitor interested in poultry should visit the ranch of Mr. M. H. Fletcher, where about 1,000 birds can be seen. Mr. Fletcher is an egg producer, and he favors the leghorn variety. His system is to keep flocks of 40 birds, and from the results he secures, it proves very satisfactory. It was very interesting to visit the incubator houses, also brooders, and see the vigorous little chicks in the various stages of development. Mr. Fletcher contemplates developing the one-day-old chick business.

There are two more lakes in the district, known as Stephens Lake and Bullock's Lake, which are well worth a visit, not only by the lover of scenery, but by the sportsman, who will find many hours of enjoyment angling.

Some very excellent specimens of the early log cabins of the original settlers on the island are to be seen. One of the outstanding features of these cabins is the construction of the chimney, built of rock and stone at the end of the building, outside. In some cases a large hole is to be seen, into which was dragged large logs, which, as they burnt away, were pushed further into the fire.

Bee-keeping is also to be seen, and from the abundance of honey be largely developed in the future.

Here also the Japanese and Chinese men are to be found, and as is usual with these yellow men, in some very favorable situation, and in some instances employed by leading citizens.

It is a good many years since we first visited the island, and we have to note the very marked improvement in the stock to be seen—the Jersey evidently is the favorite in connection with cattle raising, a proposal is under consideration, and meeting with very much favor. This proposition is to secure the consent and approval of the Islanders, especially cattle owners, to stop all importation of cattle, sheep and swine to the island unless accompanied by a certificate of health. The many advantages of this movement can be readily realized. Salt Spring Island would not only have clean stock, but would soon become renowned for its breed of cattle, sheep and swine.

In conclusion we have no hesitation in stating that the outstanding needs of Salt Spring Island are good roads and transportation. In reference to roads we realize the big difficulties to be contended with—the cost especially—but we believe with time and the adoption of modern ideas and methods this will be overcome, but in regard to transportation this ought not to be delayed.

If the present carriers are not prepared to make very big improvements, then the contract should be cancelled and the large subsidy offered to others.

We consider the proposed car ferry idea run in connection with Vancouver Island, and a small fast boat to call at the smaller islands for freight, mail, etc., would be a practical solution.

In these days when millions are spent on drydocks, outer wharves, etc., and are not being used, something should be done for the settlers on these fertile islands. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the water is the highway for the Islanders.

PARCEL POST TO UNITED KINGDOM

Under arrangements recently entered into with the British Postal authorities a person sending a parcel to the United Kingdom may write on the wrapper a request that if it cannot be delivered as addressed it may either be treated as abandoned or delivered at a second address. If there is no definite request for abandonment a parcel which cannot be delivered at the original address, or at the alternative address (where one is furnished) will be returned to the sender at his expense. The sender's name and address should be plainly written on the wrapper of every parcel sent by parcel post.

READY TO HELP A MAN WITH HIS BUSINESS

With trade reviving, every reliance may be placed on the telephone, which is such a principal factor in industrial development. British Columbia is particularly fortunate in that telephone lines radiate from the principal cities to all points, so that instant means of communication are always available.

The duplicate submarine between Point Grey and Nanaimo was laid this month doubling the facilities for telephoning between the mainland and Vancouver Island. New long distance lines have been built on Vancouver Island and throughout the lower Fraser Valley, both north and south of the river. Very few applications are unfilled because of lack of facilities, so that the telephone always taken for granted, will not fail you.

MEET THE "SCROUNGER"

How do folks? Let's get acquainted!

By way of introduction, let me take you back a few years and find out what a "Scrounger" is. This seems to be a difficult word to explain as our old stand by Dan Webster evidently didn't know of it. Must be that Dan never was associated with "Tommy Atkins." "Tommy" knows, for from him comes the word, used either as the verb "to scrounge," or the noun "scrounger." A very useful word that, as it means an army phraseology to buy, beg, borrow or steal. Therefore it can be easily understood that if said "Tommy Atkins" appears in possession of any new article of clothing or other manner of accoutrement, such article not having been entered on the quartermaster's books, any questions as to how, why or where are taboo, if the gentleman in question informs all and sundry that he "scrounged" it.

Now, folks, don't get nervous and start looking up your chickens and hiding your false teeth when you go to bed. I'm not going to scrounge anything in the concrete form. Just a little news from here or there. The only thing you need look after is your behavior. Not that I mean you to look that up, but keep it under control.

Of course this week, being the one of my initiation, I won't have much time to scrounge, as I am always nervous, when mixing up with strange people. I have lost lots of things through lack of watching.

I learn that Mr. R. Glidden, of Keating, picked his first ripe strawberries on May 23. I cannot swear to this as a fact because unfortunately (for me) Mr. Glidden destroyed the evidence before I came on the scene. However, the report comes from a pretty reliable source, so I pass it on. Mr. Glidden evidently has a warm corner in his garden to keep him in fond remembrance of some of the "hot" places he managed to get into, and out of, in France where he spent some time in cultivating a strong dislike for the Resche, and raising a healthy brood of "beam squirrels."

For the benefit of those readers who make a specialty of growing early produce I would very much appreciate some of the evidence so that my conscience will be quite clear when I start passing the news around.

By way of further caution, such things as berries should be camouflaged as cigars or some other noxious weed, as the stenographer has quite a habit of "losing" such evidence.

Now, folks, don't overdo it and rush those crates down here all at once, as I can't afford, so early in my existence, to become an invalid.

SCROUNGER

FLOWER SHOW POSTPONED.

It has been found advisable by the Salt Spring Island Women's Institute to postpone the flower show until some time in the fall. It had been practically arranged to hold the show this month, but it has been found advisable to change the date.

GOOD PRACTICE GAME.

Bill Patchell had his boys out for a strenuous work-out on Monday evening. Some of the older hands are beginning to show their old form. "Duke" Robertson and Man-nie Norton certainly are beginning to make things hum, while "Mannie" Simpson, in goal, is showing a lot of class. Some of the younger players are showing a lot of speed and mean a little more practice on stick handling, will be ready to go the limit with any team they get up against.

THE SIDEWALKS.

Some of the sidewalks around town are very badly in need of repair, and it is hoped that they will be attended to shortly.

TO PARENTS OF PUPILS.

I am establishing a record of the weight and chest measurement of the school children of North Saanich. In addition to the physical examination is necessary if I am to be able to give the parents a real report up on the health and development of their children. I should be glad if the parents of any child whose record has not been taken will send the child to school on Monday, if it is at all possible. The weight and measurement of the infants will not, I expect, be taken until November.

A. G. BEALL

Splendid Entertainment

The concert given under the auspices of the Veterans of France last Friday evening in the Berquist theatre, in aid of the G. W. V. A. relief fund, certainly deserved a greater measure of support than it received, but it was no doubt owing to other attractions that the audience was a small one. The various numbers on the programme were very good, and almost every number was encored. No doubt the outstanding number on the programme was the work of the little son of Prof. Matthews, who was loudly applauded, and shared the honors with Prof. Matthews and other members of the company who took part in the club swinging and physical exercises and pyramid building. Miss Newton and Miss Williams also received well deserved applause. Mr. Shouldice and Mr. Ingledew were well received and were compelled to respond to an encore. Miss Corrance and Mr. Potter, two other members of the company who contributed splendid numbers, received hearty applause.

At the conclusion of the concert a dance was held in the Berquist hall, quite a number taking advantage of the opportunity to indulge in this favorite pastime.

Refreshments were served during the evening, a department which was under the capable management of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Veterans of France.

As a result of the concert and dance it is expected that a small balance will be left to add to the relief fund for which the entertainment was given.

A CREDITABLE PERFORMANCE

Very Creditable Showing Made By the Pupils of the Gymnasium Classes

The teachers responsible for the splendid showing made by the gymnasium classes last night in the Berquist theatre when an exhibition of physical exercises was staged by the junior boys and senior and junior girls, must feel completely satisfied with the result of their labors. The theatre was filled almost to capacity on this occasion, and as a result a substantial sum will be added to the equipment fund of the gymnasium connected with the Sidney schools.

The various drills, marches, etc., were witnessed with a great deal of pleasure by the large audience present, and the added numbers on the programme consisting of songs, recitations, etc., were equally enjoyed.

When it is remembered that the gymnasium classes were formed only last February, the showing made by the pupils is all the more praiseworthy and is a great credit to the pupils as well as to those who have charge of the classes.

The evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. John Matthews, a member of the School Board, officiated as chairman for the evening in his usual able manner.

HAS COMMENCED BUSINESS

New Feed Company Has Commenced Business in Old V. & S. Station, on First Street

As will be seen by an advertisement in another column of this issue, Messrs. Vernon and Buckerfield have opened up a feed business in the building formerly used as the V. & S. station. It is the aim of this new company to supply feed at a fair and reasonable price, and will be enabled to do this in view of the fact that the cost of handling will be cut to the minimum, and that the firm will come in direct business contact with the farmers and others.

The firm of Vernon and Buckerfield is well known on the Mainland and throughout the Gulf Islands, as they have been in business for some years.

Mr. R. H. Hope, the manager of the company's Sidney branch, has had much experience in the feed business, and is well known in this district and the Gulf Islands settlement. Mr. Hope will keep on hand in the Sidney store a large supply of first class feed, and will be pleased to quote prices on any quantity.

SIDNEY DOG A PRIZE-WINNER

Sidney Dog Wins Three Prizes at the Victoria Kennel Show Last Friday.

"Beauty," the cocker spaniel owned by Mr. J. A. McLeod, of Sidney, won two firsts and one second on Friday last at the Victoria Kennel Club show which was held at the Willows.

"Beauty" got the red ticket for the best in her class in what is known as the "limit," in which dogs that have not won four first prizes are eligible. She also got first prize in a special class, open to dogs belonging to members of the Victoria Kennel Club, which practically means Vancouver island dogs.

Her blue ribbon was for second place in the open class.

Needless to say, Mr. McLeod is very pleased with "Beauty's" showing, as is also his son Gordon, who had charge of "Beauty" at the show.

VISITED SIDNEY ISLAND PLANT

A Party of Business Men Interested in Brick and Tile Manufacture Visited Sidney Island.

For the purpose of co-operation and co-ordination, a party of gentlemen interested in the manufacture of brick and tile and in the building business generally, arranged a visit under the auspices of the Clay Products branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to the various brick plants in Victoria and vicinity, and for this purpose came to the plant of the Sidney Island Brick and Tile Company. The party came out in three automobiles under the paternal care of Mr. J. L. Skene, and were met at Sidney wharf by the launch Genial in charge of Mr. John Garmus.

Mr. Skene had arranged to have lunch served at his home on Sidney island and at about 1 p.m. the entire party partook of the many good things prepared for the inner man by Mrs. Garmus, who, needless to say, is very capable in this department.

At the conclusion of the noonday meal a general discussion of the business took place, and many interesting facts regarding the difficulties of this branch of business were brought out, and plans suggested for the remedy.

Due almost entirely to the extreme wet weather there has been a shortage of bricks to fill the Vancouver demand, and in some cases bricks had to be imported from Seattle.

The delegation discovered there was a daily output of about 200,000 bricks daily from the Vancouver Island plants, and as the price to the trade had dropped from $28 to $20 per 1,000 it had created a building boom on a small scale, more particularly in small house construction, this condition applying particularly to Vancouver city.

The gentlemen present while most conservative were extremely optimistic of the future of the building business and the brick-making plants.

Mr. Skene claimed that by running at full capacity his plant is capable of turning out 70,000 bricks daily, but was now turning out about 30,000 bricks.

The party who visited the plant were Messrs. J. Parfitt, of the Victoria Brick Co., and chairman of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Wither and Wm. Lunney, of the same company, James and Stanley Baker, of the Baker Brick and Tile Co., D. W. Campbell, of the Gabriola Island Brick and Tile Co., Capt. Goodlake, secretary of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, James Pennington, of Champion & White, Vancouver, J. D. Orr, of Hiley Bros., New Westminster, Geo. Baynes, of Baynes & Hope, Vancouver, and Mr. W. Haslop, of Evans, Coleman & Evans, Victoria, together with representatives of the Sidney Review and the Times and Colonist of Victoria.

The party returned to Victoria about 5.30 p.m. and had a dinner at the hotel and will be pleased to quote prices on any quantity.

The store will be open on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Towboat "Tim" Was Launched Last Friday

The tugboat "Tim" was launched last Friday evening with all due ceremony, the customary bottle of champagne being in evidence.

The vessel was gaily decorated with flowers for her maiden plunge and Mr. A. Critchley and the Misses Wright, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wright, were on board when the ship slid gently down the ways.

Quite a large number of citizens gathered at the Sidney wharf to witness the launching, and as the vessel was seen to move on her way towards the water a lusty cheer went up from all.

Mrs. F. Wright had the honor of christening the new boat, breaking the bottle of champagne on the bow and wishing "Tim" the very best of luck.

Mr. J. W. Stewart, manager of the Timberland Development Company, the owners of the boat, was present at the launching, and expressed himself as quite pleased with the boat in every way.

Messrs. Copeland and Wright, the designers and builders of the vessel, expect to have all the interior fittings completed before the end of the week when she will be ready for a trial trip.
